This week at Suckley School

Happy Friday to all,

What a fun week of learning we have had at Suckley School!
This week, the whole school has been enjoying a project based on the book The Seeds We Sow by Alexandra Riza.

The story follows two characters, Bloom and Cactus, and teaches us about kindness, friendship and never giving up. The children have already created some amazing work.
In Robins, Woodpeckers and Eagles, they have been using printing techniques to copy the style of the book's illustrations, and the results have been fantastic. Apologies if your child came home with a little printing ink on their hands or arms. We think the wonderful artwork they have produced was definitely worth the extra scrub in the bath!
Please look at the 'Let's Talk About It' section below to see some of their work this week. We look forward to sharing more of the children's work with you over the next few weeks.

With kind regards
Helen Field

'Let's Talk About It'

Seeds that sprout

We all hold seeds.
Some are hiding deep beneath our feet.
Some are waiting to sprout into massive trees.

A seed can start invisible almost forgotten.
A seed can be determination like climbing a hill even when it's difficult.
A seed can be encouraging cracking every step you take.

The best thing about seeds is that there not always the same.
One considerate decision can inspire another.
A sprinkle of thought can change a day.
Under our feet roots connect into massive tree systems without us knowing.

So think carefully about the seeds we sow.
Plant kindness,
Plant courage,
Plant love,
Plant friendship,

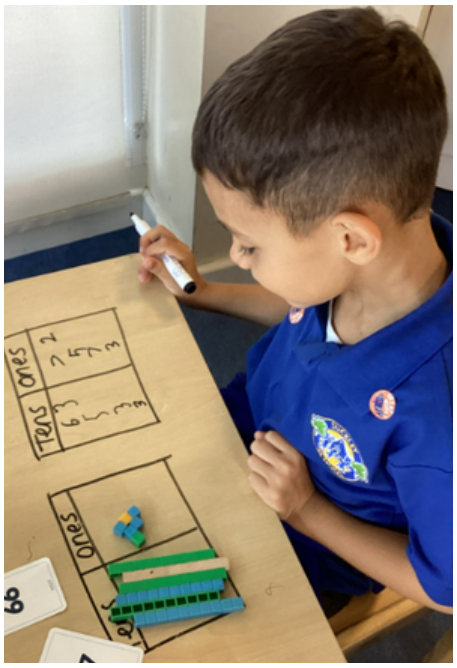

See what grows.
