This week at Suckley School

Happy Friday

Well, what an experience KS2 have had this week – dissecting owl pellets! Just when I thought I had seen it all after walking into Wrens classroom a couple of years ago, where they were dissecting a pheasant and conducting a fish autopsy, this week brought another fascinating scientific adventure! I believe they uncovered a rat's skull amongst many other items! The level of scientific enquiry, questioning, awe and wonder was simply incredible to witness.

The children also enjoyed a Rail Safety workshop delivered by Platform Rail, who have generously provided free rail travel for Wrens to visit the Christmas Tree Festival in Worcester next month. Year 5 also visited Dyson Perrins to make use of their cooking facilities and came back to school literally buzzing about the pizzas they had made- and eaten! We must never underestimate the wider impact of these experiences, which develop not only knowledge but also writing skills, maths skills, oracy confidence, resilience and independence. This was particularly evident during our Governors' Monitoring Visit this week, when governors were incredibly impressed by the learning and opportunities they observed across the school.

Finally, a huge thank you for supporting Children in Need today with your generous donations and fantastic 'spotty' efforts! The children have learnt valuable lessons about kindness, charity and the importance of helping others.

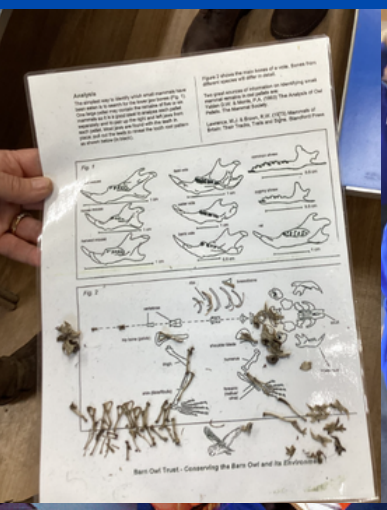

Thank you, as always, for your continued support. With kind regards,
Helen Field
